Transforming Kidney Disease Care

Housed at George Washington University's School of Nursing, the Coalition for Kidney Supportive Care leverages top-ranked academics and world-class clinical research to enact fundamental change in the care of patients with kidney disease. Core to the Coalition's mission is the integration of palliative and kidney care to create a truly supportive, patient-centric model that improves long-term quality of life and end of life decision-making. Our research and committee of leading experts informs clinical practices and health policies around the globe.

Merging Nephrology & Palliative Care to Enhance the Patient Experience

The Coalition is led by Executive Director Christine Corbett, DNP. Board-certified as a Family Nurse Practitioner, Nephrology Nurse Practitioner, and Advanced Certified Hospice and Palliative Care Nurse, Dr. Corbett brings her clinical leadership and passion for shared decision making to the team. Dr. Corbett supports practical implementations of kidney supportive care, having developed and managed the Comprehensive Conservative Kidney Care Clinic at University Health Kansas City while serving as Associate Chief Nursing Officer for Advanced Practice Providers.

Humanizing Kidney Care

Honoring and Supporting Patient Values

The Coalition for Kidney Supportive Care aims to create cultural change that transforms the care of patients with kidney disease. The complexities of modern healthcare can leave patients with overwhelming treatment decisions, and supportive care models can ensure patients are informed and active in the decision-making process. Sponsors support Coalition efforts to integrate palliative care principles and supportive care practices throughout the care continuum.
